VISION
1975

MANHATTAN CHRISTIAN COLLEGE

1407 ANDERSON

MANHATTAN, KANSAS

I HAVE BECOME A STUDENT.

I AM ONE IN A SEA OF FACES.

I HAVE BECOME A PART

YET HAVE RETAINED MY INDIVIDUALITY.

I HAVE COME SEEKING KNOWLEDGE.

BOOKS, PEOPLE, LIFE, GOD. . .

THROUGH EACH, I HAVE COME
TO KNOW--

AND WITH THAT KNOWING,

I AM FINDING MYSELF.

I HAVE BECOME A FRESHMAN.

I HAVE EXPERIENCED MANY NEW THINGS--

MAKING NEW FRIENDS, A NEW SCHOOL,

AND HOME SICKNESS.

MY DEVELOPMENT CONTINUES UNTIL. . .

I HAVE BECOME A SOPHOMORE.

NOW MORE A PART OF LIFE HERE AT MCC,

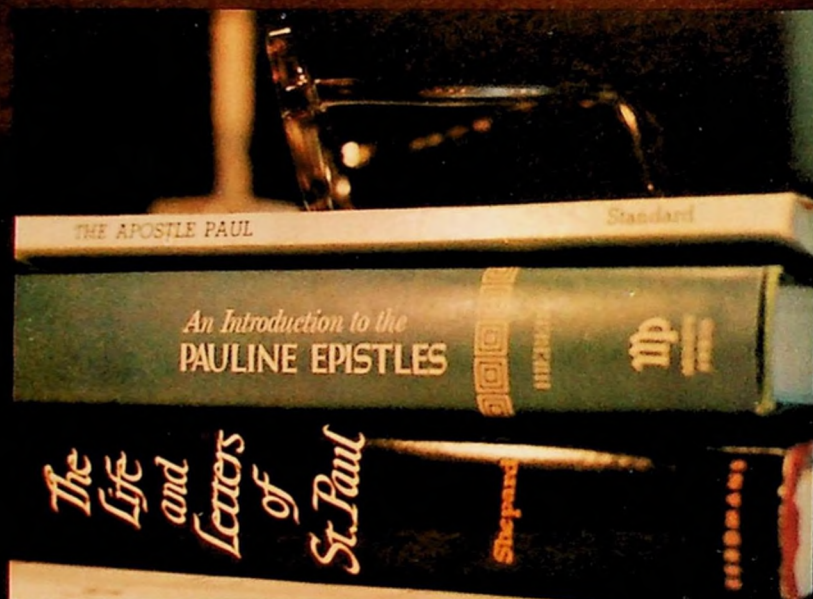

I HAVE MY FRIENDS.

BUT I AM STILL LEARNING

AND DEVELOPING.

I HAVE BECOME A JUNIOR.
NOW A TRUE UPPERCLASSMAN.
I AM NO LONGER CONTENT TO LISTEN
BUT EAGER TO ACT.
I MUST EXPERIENCE WHAT I AM LEARNING--
SOMETIMES LEAPING OUT BLINDLY,
SOMETIMES PONDERING IN SOLITUDE,
BUT CONSTANTLY STRIVING FOR REALITY.

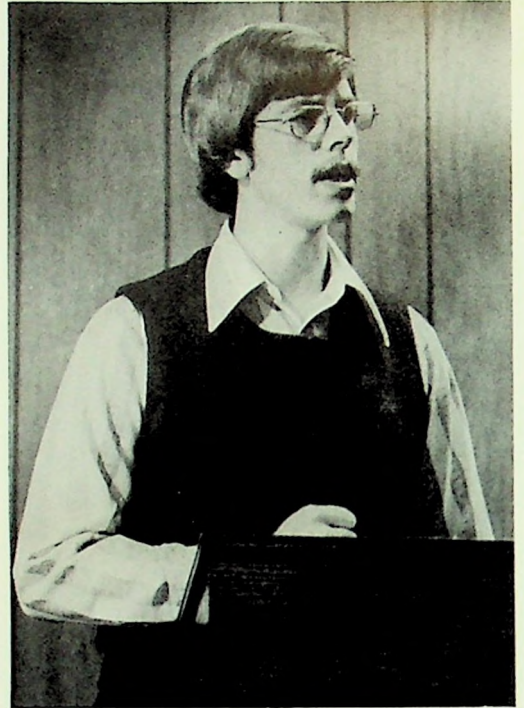

I HAVE BECOME A SENIOR.
I SHALL SEE AN ENDING
AS WELL AS A BEGINNING.
COMPLETING ANOTHER
PHASE OF MY LIFE.
I ANTICIPATE THE FUTURE
WITH DETERMINATION,
YET I AM VERY MUCH AWARE OF SUBTLE UNDERCURRENTS
OF EXCITEMENT
MINGLED WITH APPREHENSION.

I HAVE BECOME THE PARTICIPANT,
I HAVE BECOME INVOLVED.
I STRIVED, I WORKED.
I ATTEMPTED, I ACHIEVED.

I HAVE BECOME THE SPECTATOR,
I HAVE BECOME A PART.
I LISTENED, I WATCHED,
I ANTICIPATED. I ACCLAIMED.

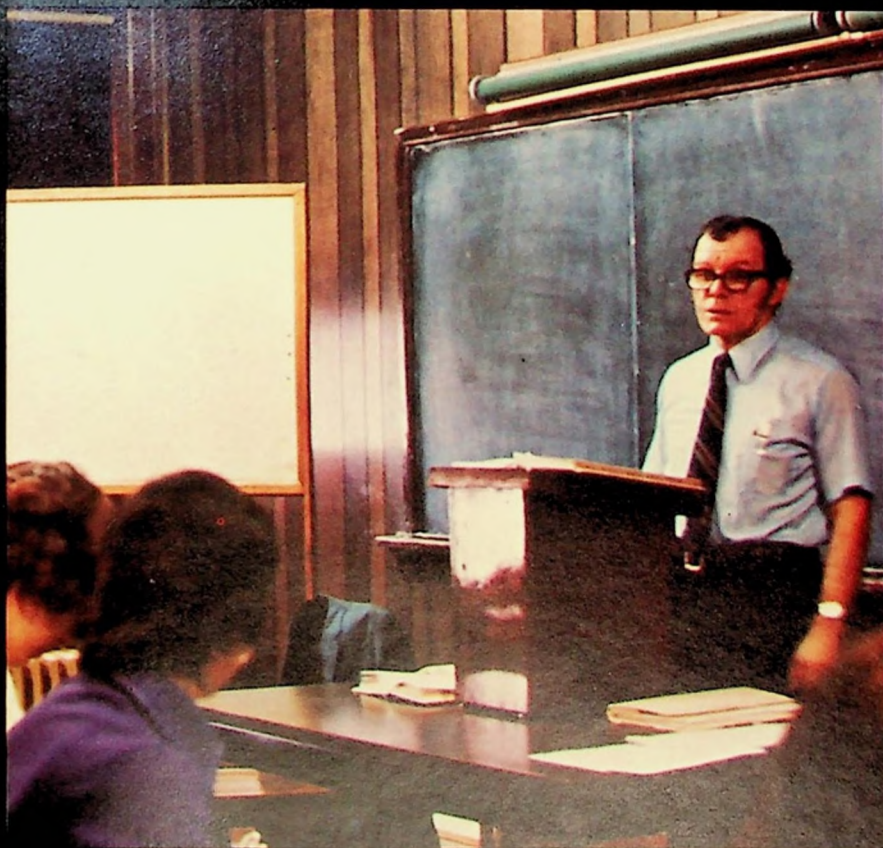

I HAVE BECOME A FOLLOWER.
THROUGH THE MEDIUM OF INTERACTION
A CHILD OF GOD LEARNS
TO FOLLOW HIM AND DO HIS WILL.
AND IN SERVING HIM,
I HAVE LEARNED TO WORK WITH OTHERS.

I HAVE BECOME A LEADER.
EACH EXPERIENCE HAS TAUGHT ME
THE PAIN AND GLORY
OF LEADERSHIP.
I HAVE DISCOVERED MY ABILITY
AND LEARNED MY RESPONSIBILITY,
AND FOUND THAT WE EACH
LEAD BEST
WHEN WE SERVE.

I HAVE BECOME
MANHATTAN CHRISTIAN COLLEGE.

I HAVE A DREAM. . .

There are dreams to be dreamed, visions to be seen, and steep, stony paths to be traveled before the night falls.

No path is begun until it is dreamed of.

I do dream you know. I dream of what I want to become--no--not that at all. Rather, I dream of becoming what HE WHO MADE ME wants me to become.

I am not a person, and yet I am a sort of composite person. You call me a college, but that sounds so formal so austere, so "institutional." I am, of course, an institution. That is, I am a group of people banded together to do something and be something. And I AM people.

But first I must see where I am going--I must see the vision. With all my heart I believe that I can be whatever I will, if God enables me; and I can do whatever I wish, if it is His wish. But first I must dream the dream. In fact, I am persuaded that I can be and do whatever I will (if that is God's will, and if He will enable me), but I can never do--nay, rather I will never ATTEMPT what I have not imagined. . . dreamed!

YES, I AM PEOPLE. I suppose you might say I am a person, but I am many people. And each person of me must dream. . . and pray. . . and follow Jesus' leadership to the rainbow's end.

I AM A LITTLE LADY who skimps and saves to be able to give to "help the preacher boys."

I AM A FRESHMAN STUDENT. I arrived on this campus with glistening eyes and soaring aspirations. To be perfectly honest, I do not feel a clear direction as to how, when, or where I shall serve my Lord, but I am determined to serve Him! I MUST become familiar with His Word. I MUST learn how to present my Lord to my friends back home, and to friends I shall meet--out there.

I AM A TRUSTEE. I can see the great need of this Christian center for Christian higher education, and I am glad to give my time, money, energy, and professional experience to the Lord through Manhattan Christian College.

I AM A SENIOR. I have spent three and a half wonderful years here. I say that despite the pressures of study, and work, and and service. I feel I have received what I had hoped for when I came here. I have studied God's holy Word. I have studied it in its ancient tongues. I love it, and Him whom it reveals to me. My wife and I view commencement day with mixed emotions. Here we are among the dearest and best friends we will ever have. They are our closest brothers and sisters in the Lord. We will miss them. We will weep for them. Yet, we can hardly wait to move to "the field," and into the cozy, if humble, little parsonage. I love to preach Christ. I am anxious to get at it.

I AM A PROFESSOR. I would never want to do anything other than what I am doing right now. Each day I am privileged to look into intelligent youthful faces. I enjoy the productivity of their active minds and the genuineness of their yielded lives. I rejoice, at knowing that my life will through them, be multiplied many-fold.

I AM AN ADMINISTRATOR. A thankless task, mine. But, though it is removed from the direct ministry that I love, it enables many to share that service. Thankless? Maybe. But not void of blessing.

I AM A SECRETARY. Now and again I ask myself, "How can typing and shorthand possibly serve my Lord?" But the question is fleeting. Soon I am typing a dictated letter from a college official to a young Christian in a distant city. It invites the youth to come to campus, here to prepare to implement the Savior's command to be world ambassadors for Him. I dream of what they may become.

I AM PRESIDENT OF THE COLLEGE. For many years I have dreamed many dreams. Many have materialized, through the providence of God. Many yet await His heavenly timetable. I love this school. I love these fabulous kids.

I AM A COLLEGE. I am people. I am vision and determination, hope, and expectation. I have a dream. It is to be God's own instrument through Jesus Christ. God, help me to see this dream take on the flesh of daily ministry.

FAMILY

PRES. W.F. LOWN

The President of a college is one who knows the joy of success, the heartbreak of failure, the molding of dreams, and the excitement of those dreams becoming reality. Dr. Lown, a man of great faith and strong determination, has known all of these emotions, and many more, for 20 years.

Born and raised in Iowa, Dr. Lown came to MCC to study music evangelism and worked two years as a student teacher in the music department. He has watched this little school grow to become an institution giving Christian men and women the opportunity to study many ministries.

"As of January 1, 1975, the American Association of Bible Colleges, of which MCC is an accredited member, becomes a member of COPA (Commission on Postsecondary Accreditation). This has the force of elevating the AABC to its proper place as an institutional accrediting association, just as the regional associations are," he has stated.

President and Mrs. Lown have two daughters and five grandchildren (pictures of whom he "just happens to have with him" at all times). He is a founder of the Christian Missionary Fellowship and co-editor of the magazine, FELLOWSHIP. With all these activities his favorite times are spent "right here on campus with my kids."

BARTON MCELROY

As Academic Dean, Dr. McElroy is directly responsible for all degree programs, both at MCC and with area institutions. "I feel it is commendable that we now have a greater number of students studying for the ministry, and yet have greater opportunities for students in non-ministerial degree programs." Dr. McElroy has stated.

He also adds, "We finally have the Elementary Education program with Kansas State, as well as a re-defined Christian Service program."

Dr. McElroy is responsible for the library, which is now catalogued by the Library of Congress classification, as well as having direct oversight of all faculty affairs.

HIRAM CASSEL

Did you ever wonder who is responsible for all those menial little tasks that keep the student life at MCC running smoothly? Mr. Hiram Cassel left a seven year ministry with the Oakley Christian Church to come and minister at MCC as Dean of Students. His "open-door" policy gives students a standing invitation to come discuss any problems they may be facing, or just come to talk.

Mr. Cassel's duties include being Student Council advisor and working directly with the dorm supervisors. He has organized several faculty-led Bible study groups on campus, and a student calling program. Also from Mr. Cassel's office come many job opportunities for students.

According to Mr. Cassel, involvement with student life is an expansion of his ministry. "I did not leave the ministry when I left the pulpit; I expanded my ministry."

If you consider balancing your check-book a difficult task, imagine managing all the business affairs of an entire college! Mr. Clowe is directly responsible for all the college's financial matters, besides overseeing the bookstore, food service, physical plant, all non-instruction personnel, and student financial aid.

Mr. Clowe completes his fifth year with MCC and finds his 23 years experience with the Federal Government Logistics, invaluable in his present ministry. "Bill Lown and I have been friends for a long time, and after leading me to Christ he gave me the opportunity to come to MCC and use my knowledge of the business world for the Lord."

Though he is a busy man, and often hard to find, the lines of communication between the business office and the student body are becoming stronger. Long hours of hard work have resulted in gaining maximum financial aid for students as well as continual upgrading of campus facilities.

DALE HILLARD

"We are quite enthused about our new emphasis on the News and Information Service to various news media, the expansion of 'Friends of Manhattan,' both in prayer and financial support, our doubling of recruitment efforts of new students, and our planned giving program." As the new Director of Development Dale Hillard is constantly involved with all these areas, plus working with Church and community relations. The Development Office is responsible for the printing of all school promotional material, including brochures, catalogues, and CRUSADER LIFE.

Mr. Hillard completes his fifth year with MCC after several preaching ministries in Illinois. A talented and busy man, Mr. Hillard finds time to work with students on campus as well as travel for the college, holding evangelistic meetings and song services.

BOOKS GALORE

Very much in tune with the times, MCC has two "shelf-service" facilities, the bookstore and the library. In addition to textbooks and Bibles, the bookstore stocks records, paperbacks, cards, music, and gift items.

The library grew during the past year by approximately one thousand volumes in addition to Micro Fiche cards containing copies of four hundred volumes of Bible commentaries, theological works, and rare books.

THE FIXERS

MCC is blessed many times over with a task force that preserves both body and building. Hats off to Dennis Johnson and the kitchen crew, MCC's "fixers."

STUDENT

1974

Officers for 1974 were Judy Rider, president; Dennis Glen, vice-president; Jeanette Kehler, secretary; and Larry Wright, treasurer.

Student Council is probably one of the oldest organizations on campus, yet it is one of the most misunderstood and is used by only a few students. Ideally, it is designed to play a part in every area of student life: physical, mental, emotional, and spiritual. It was set up to promote activities, ideas, and suggestions which would help each student grow and mature in his life and service at MCC.

The council members of the 1974-75 fall semester saw a new phase of Student Council commonly known as the "new system." This included changing to a split-election system, initiating two new committees, adding presidential veto, and developing a committee cabinet. Other areas of concern for that semester were the beginning of the Faith-Promise program, better representation between students and council members, and more effective communication between students and faculty.

Student Council is just that—an organization organized for and directed by students. With the help of every student, it can be a more effective and inspiring organization than it is. The Student Council is not designed to be solely a governing body; it is to promote student growth.

Judy Rider
1974 Student Council President

Officers for 1975 were Bill Watt, president; Larry Wright, vice-president; Beverly Hanna, secretary; and Debbie Frisinger, treasurer.

GOING. . . . . .GOING. . . . . .GONE!

Student Council sponsors the Sweet-heart Banquet which took place February 22, 1975. Ladies prepared lunch for themselves and a gentleman partner, and elaborately decorated boxes that hid their identities. Mr. Allison and Len Ninemier auctioned the boxes and took the bids of the gentlemen. The money received from the banquet went to the StuCo Carpet Fund for buying carpet for the Lecture Hall.

SOCCER ENTHUSIASM INCREASES

In its fifth year of action, the Crusader soccer team finished the season with five wins and five losses, led by its fearless leader and friend, Mr. Benedict. For stiffer competition, the Crusaders played teams from Wichita, Southwestern, and Cloud County Junior Colleges, giving them all a hard run. A growing crowd continued to support the team enthusiastically throughout the season.

"WE RIPPED 'EM!"

It wasn't uncommon at all to hear "We ripped 'em!" around the MCC campus during basketball season. The Crusaders did a fantastic job, winning two tournaments and finishing second in the conference with an 18-6 record.

All of our guys deserved a lot of credit; trophies were given out by Coach Wilson in three categories. Randy Ingmire and Don Rowe received trophies for being voted the most inspirational players. Even on a GREAT team, the players improve, and Ren Showalter and Mike Runyon were the most improved players. Rick Rader led the team in free-throw percentage.

Our team may have rated only second in the MCCC, but to us, they were No. 1.

Much of the credit for a good season goes to Coach Wilson not only for his influence and attitude, but also for being a "great guy."

TOURNAMENT CHAMPIONS

MCC's first game of the tournament was a rugged one with Friends. After trailing by six points, the Crusaders came on the second half and dominated the play. MCC won by a score of 69-59 as Coach Wilson cleared the bench in the final minutes.

The championship game between MCC and Grace Bible Institute was filled with excitement. The Crusaders led the entire game and won by the score of 75-63. It was a great team effort and the best game of the season.

After the game everyone celebrated as Pat Theobald was named to the All-Conference team. The tournament championship was a superb ending for the best season ever for MCC's basketball team.

1974-75 CHEERLEADERS

Cheerleaders for the 1974-75 basketball season were JoAnn Poor, Wanda Powell, and Pam Scott. According to Wanda, their primary purpose was "to unite the students in backing their team and in supporting them to victory."

Five to six hours of weekly practice prepared the cheerleaders in gaining the support and enthusiasm of MCC basketball fans. Their talents and precision brought appreciation not only from the spectators, but from the players themselves.

"Some of the schools we played were friendlier than others, but they all made us feel as if they were glad to be playing basketball with us," Wanda said.

For the three cheerleaders, praying with other cheerleaders before a game, spending time with students from other schools, and seeing the reactions of spectators to their favorite players were a few of their most enjoyable moments. Being associated with a winning team instilled enthusiasm and pride in their cheerleading efforts, making their job even more exciting.

Scoreboard

The 1975 Crusader baseball team looked to the season with great anticipation, but rain and cancellation cut short the nine game schedule. The season was enjoyable but disappointing. Bad weather plagued both the practice sessions and the games. The Crusaders could put together good fielding and scoring punch only once during the season. In that game MCC's rivals, Ozark Bible College, were defeated by the score of 8 to 6.

John Leach, John Schnelle, and Frank Smith represented Manhattan Christian College at the Conference Tournament in Kansas City. They made a valiant effort, but all lost their first-round matches.

Kent Pratt, Don Rowe, Pat Theobald, Rick Rader, Bruce Shira, and David Thompson were members of the Crusader golf team. They traveled to Joplin, Missouri, for a dual meet with Ozark Bible College; then, they went to the Conference Tournament in Kansas City where they placed third.

GOLF

VOLLEYBALL

Students and friends frequently participate in athletic activities on the Manhattan Christian College campus. In addition to volleyball and basketball, students have several opportunities during the year to play softball, touch football, soccer, good old-fashioned catch, and even occasional miniature golf.

DORM COUNCILS

The purpose of dorm council is to establish and maintain a desirable living atmosphere, spiritually, socially, intellectually, emotionally, and physically, for all residents," according to Pam Goodman, president of the Waltheim council.

Dorm council members were elected by the resident hall members for a one-year term. The councils' responsibilities included the organization of devotional activities and social events, as well as oversight of the general dormitory rules and activities. The council represented the residents and was directly responsible to the dorm supervisors. This system of self government allowed resident members to be responsible for themselves and thus mature in Christ.

KMCC: SERVING YOU ONLY

"This is KMCC, 990 on your AM dial." Sound familiar? KMCC radio broadcasts locally 16 hours a week to Manhattan Christian College, providing news, weather, music, campus announcements, special programs, and live coverage of special campus activities. The radio station is owned and operated by the college with students working as broadcasters.

Professor David Benedict is station manager, with Rusty Andrews as program manager. Dave McClintock works as the station engineer, and Chris Grantham and Sheila Smith have both worked as KMCC secretaries. Announcers are not only trained for broadcasting on KMCC radio, but they also study the Federal Communications Commission's rules for their third class licenses with broadcast endorsement. Each semester a group travels to Kansas City to take the test.

Les Cary is camera man for Chapel.

Dave McClintock and Rusty Andrews work at the board.

Rick Rader adjusts the audio for Chapel broadcast.

Because enrollment has increased, chapel services are broadcast to an overflow in Owensby Lounge on Tuesday evenings. At least three people are needed for each broadcast: one to operate the video camera, one to work in the audio room as "mike-mixer," and one in the KMCC control room to direct all of this activity and to broadcast the audio portion live over the radio.

KMCC looks forward to a new building next year with both an AM and an FM station. the AM station will still broadcast to the college and serve as training ground for new announcers, and the FM station, which will begin broadcast in January of 1976, will serve the city of Manhattan.

KMCC continues to expand an increasing numbers of students are becoming involved in the broadcasting ministry.

VISION STAFF

"Men see things as they are and ask, 'Why?' I dream of things as they could be and ask 'Why not?'" In undertaking the seemingly impossible task of recording this year's experience, we the 1975 VISION Staff, gained new insight into the meaning of these words.

As the year began we took inventory of our abilities and found our abundant desire compensated for our lack of skill; thus our work began. To express our thoughts we used pictures and creative phrases; stories and exciting graphics. Long hours of diligent work in an underground room was augmented by typewriters clicking on through the night and the incriminating odor of developing chemicals.

Now our work is finished and you possess the product of our labors. We hope that this book will help you gain a greater vision of Manhattan Christian College.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT ACQUIRES NEW DIRECTOR

Celebration Singers, MCC's select performing choir, presented programs at many on campus and community activities.

Under the direction of Professor Kim Clowe, the 24-voice choir made their first appearance at the annual $100-plate benefit dinner, followed by several other concerts at area churches including a mini-tour to north-central Kansas. The special event for the fall semester was the annual Christmas Concert, December 10, 1974. A special feature this year was the Bach cantata, "For Unto Us A Child Is Born," with orchestral accompaniment.

The choir provided a variety of musical programs during spring semester. "Celebrate Life," a pulpit musical drama of the life of Christ, was presented at the Easter convocation service. The choir performed a few selections from this musical for MCC Days. Their last on-campus appearance was their home tour concert, May 6, 1975.

The remaining time was used in preparation for Spring tour, which extended their ministry to the south-eastern States. The choir was also busy in fund-raising activities to help defray the costs of the two-week tour. The choir members combined their time and hard work through such activities as basketball tournament concessions and garage sales, which paid for two-thirds of the cost.

One of the most important and basic elements of any singing group is practice . . . and practice they did.

COLLEGE RINGERS EXTEND MUSIC MINISTRY

The College Ringers assisted the choir on their spring tour, providing preludes and special accompaniment for the concert. The handbell choir was formed second semester under the direction of Professor Dale Aldridge. The choir, consisting of eight members, averaged three hours of practice each week in preparation for spring tour. The thirty-seven piece handbell set was purchased through a memorial fund for T.H. Johnson, former president of MCC, and has greatly enriched the music department's ministry.

Sharing their testimony on the marimba, Judy and Rusty Rider accompanied the singers on their tour through the south-eastern United States. They were also involved in public relations work throughout the tour.

Steve Palich and Roy Nevil combined their talents on the guitars to augment the presentation of "Celebrate Life" and several tour selections.

EVEN THE HATER

"Even the Hater," a symbolic drama under the direction of Professor David Benedict, presented a girl, a youth, and a man who symbolized every person that lived and their interactions that represented every conflict ever known. The play cast toured with the drama crew and performed in Scottsbluff, Nebraska, Effingham and Oakley, Kansas. "Even the Hater" was also presented to the MCC student body.

Many hours of preparation were rewarded with enthusiastic applause for "Charlie Brown," this year's special feature of MCC Days, presented on April 5, under the direction of David Benedict and Kim Clowe.

"C'mon, Charlie Brown! We're all behind you, sort of."

"Charlie Brown never brings me any coffee in the morning."

"Lunch time is among the worst times of day for me."

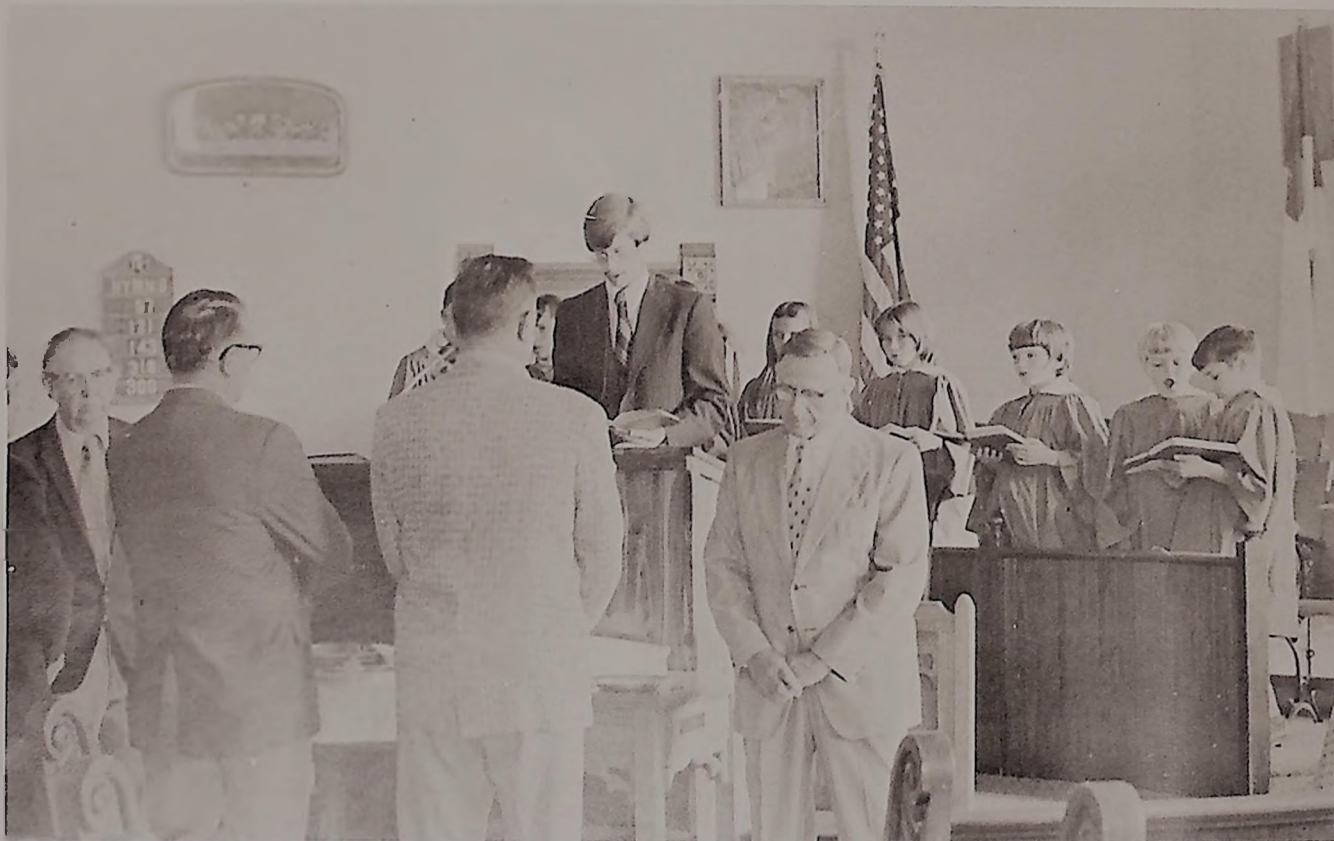

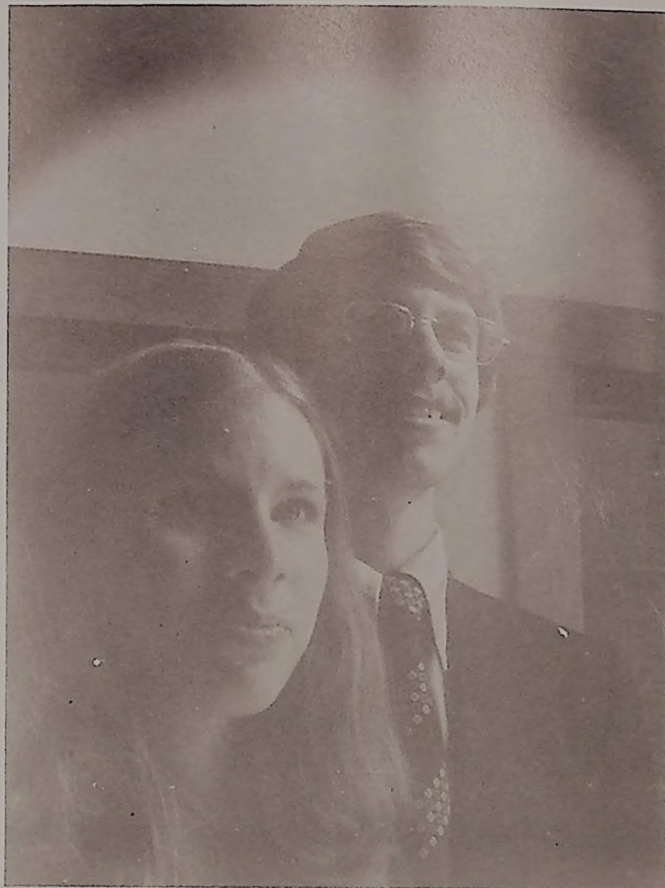

"After we get married we won't need this ol' piano."

THE NEWTONS. A STUDENT MINISTRY

The life of the student minister is a life of frustration, heartache, excitement, joy, and rich reward. Tim and Cathi Newton face these emotions and many more each week as they minister to the congregation at Havensville, Kansas. They work as Sunday School teacher, song leader, counselor, preacher, and friend, while all the time trying to meet their academic requirements of the college. The task is never ending, yet so is the reward.

The Newtons are only two of many students ministers who travel each weekend to congregations throughout Kansas. The size of each congregation varies, and so does the situations; but the goal is always the same. Jesus gave the command: "Go ye into all the world. . ." and so the student minister must go.

ABX REJUVENATES INTEREST IN MISSIONS

ABX, the student missions organization at MCC, sponsored many activities throughout the year, which brought student awareness of present missionary work and opportunities.

Mission Emphasis Week, held during October, provided seminars and preaching sessions to create an expanded interest in missionary work. Also through ABX, 14 students attended the 27th National Missionary Convention held in Cincinnati, Ohio during Thanksgiving vacation.

The organization also sponsored a Love Feast to help raise money for the Reiche family in Mexico who lost their home and crops in the floods during a typhoon this year. Approximately 125 attended the dinner, and about $250 was received from donations.

ABX annually sponsors summer interns through StuCo funding and fund-raising activities such as book-sales and football tournaments. Several of the interns gave presentations of their work at ABX Chapels.

This year's concluding event was the ABX Banquet, held in honor of MCC Students with special interests in missionwork. Mr. Benedict challenged the group to further involvement in this area of the church's ministry.

OPEN HOUSE COMES BUT TWICE THIS YEAR. . . .

Heralds of the Mourning

Where two or more are gathered . . . RUN!

The Calorie Corner

Waltheim, Dougherty, and Johnson Halls opened their doors to all students and faculty on three different occasions.

The upperclasswomen of Dougherty Hall welcomed visitors early in the semester. Waltheim Hall's underclasswomen showed off their dorm to a variety of characters who descended upon them at Halloween. The men of Johnson Hall hung mistletoe in the doorways and invited everyone to visit at Christmas time.

FACULTY-STAFF OPEN HOUSE

"Now, of course, most of these books I picked up over in Ephesus."

Every year the faculty and staff open their doors and MCC students come pouring in. It is quite a contrast to seeing students trodding to class, but the reasons may well be explained.

Fellowship, food, and fun seem to tie them together as students see the lighter side of the faculty and staff. Stories of work and travel encourage the students to continue their own studies. Even the campus children add a special touch.

All in all, students at MCC feel a little more at home by the families of the MCC family.

Kelli Wilson is ready for a good night's rest.

CAMPUS DAYS

College isn't all fun and games, to the surprise of the many high school seniors visiting MCC on Campus Days. Three weekends were set aside for Campus Days—one in October, November, and December. Don Wilson coordinated activities each weekend.

Seniors experienced one and one-half days of real college life. They sampled classes, meals, and social events. The seniors met the administration and found out about finances and various programs. They also saw slides of MCC and other areas of student involvement.

The days were full, and the seniors discovered what a normal day is like at MCC.

This senior is already proudly showing his interest in MCC.

"THERE'S A SONG IN THE AIR" WINTER BANQUET DECEMBER 6, 1974

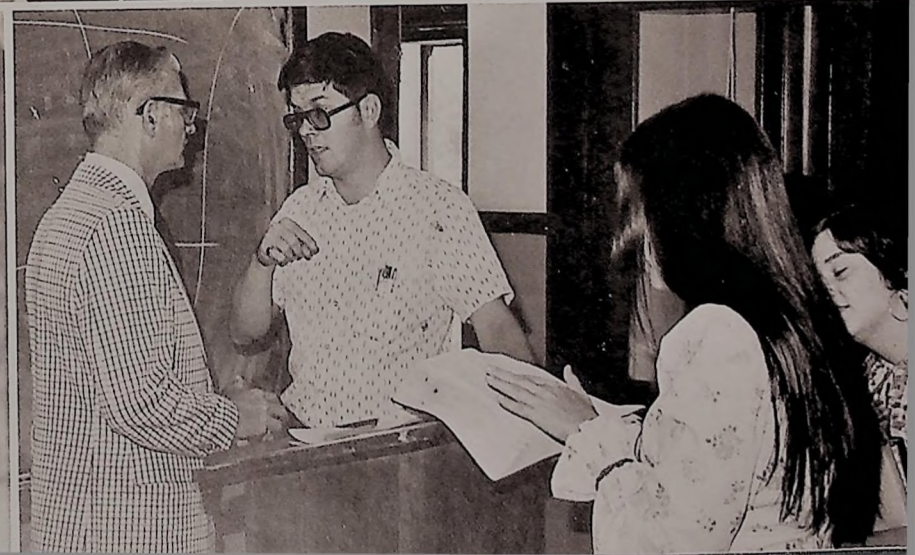

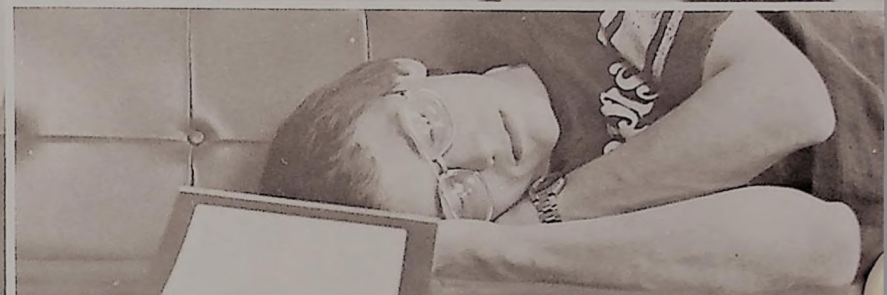

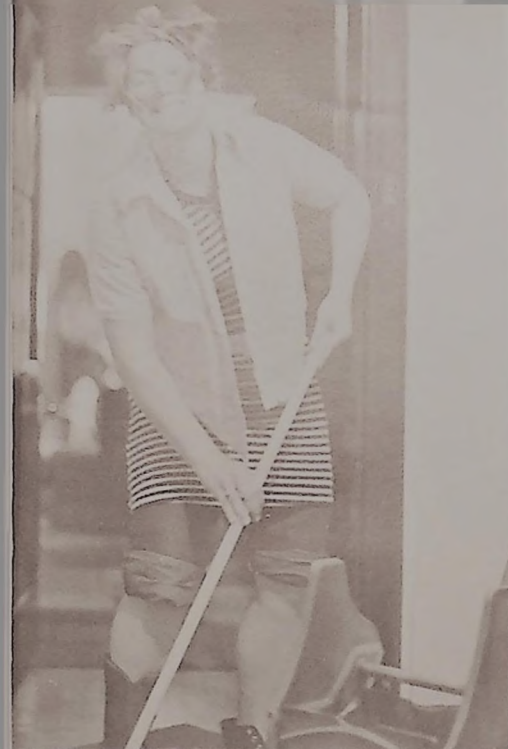

MCC's annual Winter Banquet took place December 6, 1974, 7:00 p.m., at Mr. Steak Restaurant. Waltheim president Pam Goodman and social chairman Lynda Cline presided at the banquet, which was sponsored by the women's dorms.

The theme of the banquet, "There's a Song in the Air," inspired musical moments that brought enjoyment to the 118 present. Kim Harrison on trumpet and Chuck Godwin at the piano provided background music for the meal. Messages in song were brought by "Four Heaven Bound."

Highlighting the evening, John Greenlee, minister of the University Christian Church, Manhattan, spoke on "A Dream Called Man."

"LOOKING TO JESUS:" MCC DAYS 1975

"Looking to Jesus" was the theme carried out by Larry Green, Assistant Director for "Christ in Youth," the featured speaker for the annual MCC Days, April 4th and 5th. For the first time, MCC Days covered a period of two days rather than the traditional one.

Included among other events were two firsts: Bible Bowl competition and the Omnibus Hour, a miscellaneous montage of talents.

MCC's own drama department presented the musical, "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown," which delighted the crowd assembled in the city auditorium.

To add an extra personal touch, slides of the MCC and KSU campuses were shown, and the Campus Fair returned, for which several campus organizations set up booths depicting their purposes and activities.

Selections from the gospel musical "Celebrate Life!" were sung by the Celebration Singers, and the Crusader Choir presented several musical messages in song.

President W.F. Lown brought 1975's MCC Days to a close by challenging all those present to truly look to Jesus in daily living.

SKIP DAY

Once a year everyone decides to skip school, students and professors alike. A caravan formed early on the morning of April 30th and headed for White Memorial Camp, Council Grove.

Skip Day, sponsored by the activities committee, was a day of fun and games, and definitely no academics. Activities for the day included softball, volleyball, football, tug-of-war, fishing, ping pong, egg throwing, marshmallow stuffing, and banana eating. To end a great day was a camp fire, communion, and devotions led by President Lown.

"ROCKY MOUNTAIN HIGH"

MCC family and friends spent an exciting spring break in Colorado, March 9-14. The week included tubing, ice skating, snowmobiling, cross country skiing, and down hill skiing at Monarch Pass. Perhaps the highlight of the week was the opportunity for self-evaluation and spiritual growth. The study of I Peter led by Dr. Leach and discussions led by various guest speakers were both educational and stimulating.

Planning for this adventure began many months in advance under the direction of Hiram Cassel, Larry Winger, and Tim Newton. "Horn Creek Lodge is located among beautiful pines and high mountains next to the Sangre De Cristo Forest Reserve. The main lodge commands a panoramic view of Horn Peak (about 14,000 feet high). It has a beautiful dining room which seats 110 guests, a large lounge for meeting purposes, a recreational room with ping-pong and pool tables." Plans for next year's trip are now being made. From beginning to end it was truly a "Rocky Mountain High!"

SPRING BANQUET

APRIL 25, 1975

The Spring Banquet was held on April 25, 1975, at 6:30 p.m. The banquet was given by the juniors in honor of the graduating seniors. Don Crosley, Vice-President of the Junior Class, presided, and John Messer, President of the Senior Class, gave the senior response and acceptance. James Cunningham, minister of the Florence Christian Church in Omaha, Nebraska, was the speaker.

WORSHIP

"INTO ALL THE WORLD" THEME FOR MISSIONS EMPHASIS WEEK

"Into All The World" served as the theme for Missions Emphasis Week, which took place October 8-10 and was sponsored by ABX.

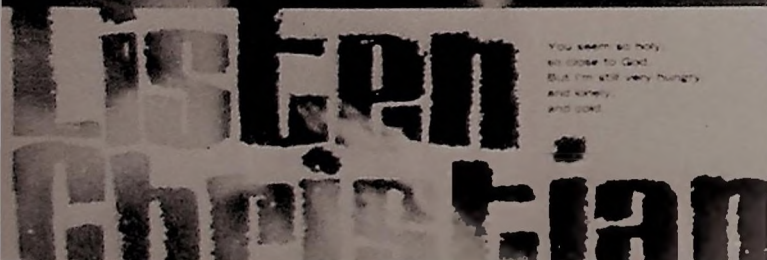

Terry Reyes, a Philippine missionary to New York City; Jesse Yangmi, a Burmese Christian studying in the United States and planning to return to Thailand; and Dale McAfee, an American missionary to Brazil, were the featured speakers.

Each of the three missionaries presented morning and afternoon seminars and an evening chapel service. Mrs. Dale McAfee read a special seminar concerned with the life of a missionary wife and mother. Those with a strong interest in missions and mission work were given the opportunity to meet with the missionaries for discussion on a one-to-one basis.

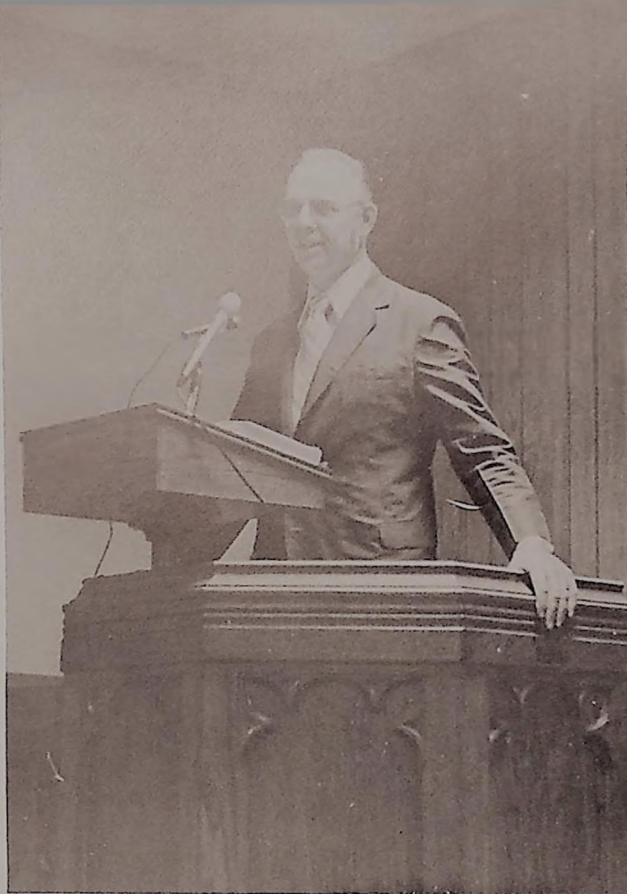

Missions Emphasis Week hopefully stimulated student interest in the work of world-wide missions, creating missions awareness and moving some to go "into all the world."

"CELEBRATE LIFE"

"Celebrate Life," a pulpit drama composed by Buryl Red, was performed by the Celebration Singers at Kansas State University's All Faiths Chapel on March 25.

The pulpit drama combined both the music and drama departments.

The roles of Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John were played by Dennis Glenn, Larry Wright, David Thompson, and Bill Watt.

Instrumentalists for the musical were guitarists Roy Nevil and Steve Palich, drummer Steve McFarland, pianist/organist Deb Henrickson, and oboist Allyson Greenlee.

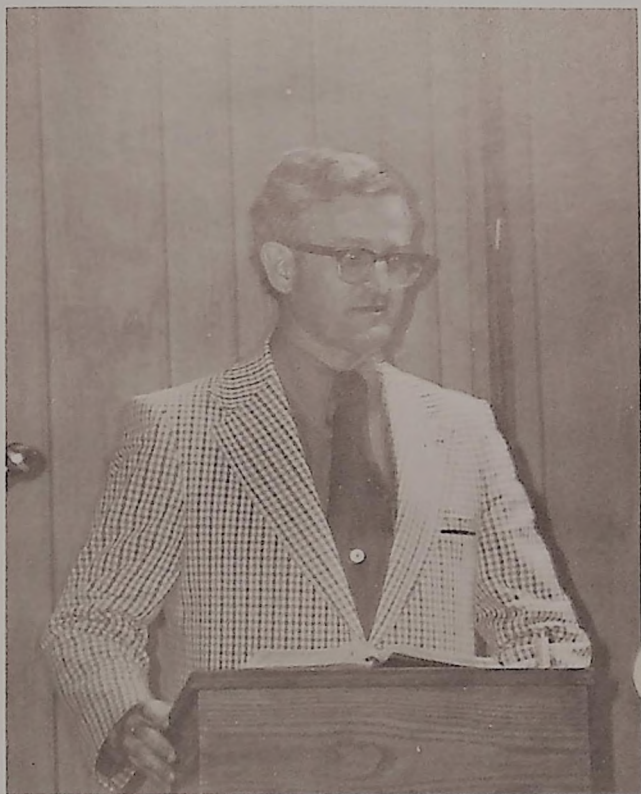

"We are here to celebrate life, His Life!"

CAMPUS REVIVAL SPONSORS "FAITH ALIVE DAYS"

The annual MCC Campus Revival, sponsored by the Religious Life Committee, was held April 15-17, 1975. Wilbur Johnson, minister of the Minneola First Christian Church, was the evangelist. He led several morning and evening sessions, speaking on the theme, "Faith Alive Days."

Bringing special music throughout the three-day revival was Ed Preston, a 1971 MCC graduate. Ed is presently involved with multi-media evangelism. His program included vocal and trombone solos, puppet parables, and impressive slide presentations.

A special feature for the opening services was a pre-session concert by the Broadway Christian Church youth choir from Lexington, Kentucky.

"Prayer is not necessarily in fluency of speech; it is not in painted imagery; it is not in deep thoughts; it is not in burning words; it is not in the length and breadth and fullness of petition. Prayer is something more: it is the wish of the heart--the expression of the soul."

--Dear.

FAITH-PROMISE

During its first year, the Faith-Promise program instigated a two-fold purpose: to encourage students to give as God blessed, and to involve them in support of either a missionary project or MCC's own needy building fund.

"It should be emphasized that Faith-Promise is not a tithe. Rather, it is based on trust in the Lord--we trust Him to give us $5.00 a week over and above our regular needs, and we give it back to Him. Hopefully, it is another step in spiritual growth," said Larry Wren, coordinator of the Student Council sponsored program.

In essence, then, students made a commitment not to StuCo or to Faith-Promise, but to themselves in that as each was blessed, he gave back to his God a portion of those blessings.

CHAPEL

Chapel met twice a week as a time for the MCC family members to worship their God together. The chapel program included group singing, special music presentations and speakers. The speakers were sometimes MCC students, faculty or staff members, and sometimes special guests. Often StuCo or ABX presented chapel services.

Chapel was a time for all to come in from their busy, active days to participate in quiet fellowship with God.

CRUSADER CHOIR

Special messages in song from the Crusader Choir highlighted the chapel services each Tuesday evening.

With only seven male voices and twenty-one female voices, choir carried on throughout the year. They sang at activities such as the Athearn Lectures, two Christmas concerts, the Preaching Convention, MCC Days, and the Campus Revival.

Crusader Choir also participated in two "fun" activities along with Celebration Singers. In October the groups had a Halloween party and in May a cook-out at Tuttle.

ALUMNI SPONSOR "AS FOR ME AND MY HOUSE"

Three days of seminars, luncheons, and speaking sessions on the Christian family comprised the program of the 22nd annual Preaching Convention, January 28-30.

Jack and Carole Mayhall, a husband and wife team working with the Navigators in Colorado Springs, Colorado, were the guest speakers. They related their advice concerning problems shared by many marriage partners and their families. Understanding and communicating with family members were emphasized throughout the sessions.

The Preaching Convention brings old friends together to meet with new friends.

Linda Lown Grover reflects on her family life at the women's luncheon.

Mrs. Lown stands breathless as her daughter and two grandchildren from Montana surprise her by their appearance at the noon luncheon.

President Lown discusses the growth and status of the college in 1975.

Several special events enriched the annual meeting. The women were delighted Wednesday noon by the inspirational talk given by Linda Lown Grover. A banquet, honoring the MCC alumni, was held Wednesday evening in the KSU Union. President Lown brought the annual "State of the College" address at the President's luncheon Thursday noon.

SEMINARS PROVIDE INFORMATION AND INSPIRATION

Tom Hawks

George Foosher

Margie Morgridge

Four seminars held in the afternoon further aided those present in areas of Christian family life. Hiram Cassel, Dean of Students at MCC, led a discussion on the ministry of family counseling. Margie Morgridge, a housewife from Wichita, Kansas, explored into the ministry of women.

MCC alumnus Tom Hawks, who is presently the youth minister at Central Christian Church, Mesa, Arizona, presented practical methods of meeting the challenge of today's youth. George Foosher, a loan administrator from Wichita, Kansas, gave assistance in the area of the ministry of family finances.

HEAR THE MESSAGE THAT WE BRING

Gospel teams have served for years as one of the main contacts between MCC and the churches it serves. This purpose was again fulfilled by reaching out to adults and children alike, not only through singing and preaching, but also through drama presentations and puppetry.

Seven gospel teams were formed early the first semester, and each prepared a special program presented at each church visited throughout the year. These programs could be changed according to the desires of gospel team members. Versatility such as this greatly influenced the ability of the team to meet the specific needs of the church.

Monthly organizational meetings answered questions and took care of all business concerning trips. Team members also evaluated their past trips and discussed problems encountered within individual groups.

As a result of limitations as to how many times a team could go out each month, soloists were often scheduled to appear in area congregations. Limitations were set at two trips a month so that students could keep up with studies.

Norma Cunningham, who helped Dale Aldridge in the gospel team office in scheduling the teams, said, "Although seven teams were formed this year, there is a desperate need for more teams to meet the requests of supporting churches."

Though they require much diligent work and dedication, gospel teams have been and will continue to be a vital part of MCC's expanding outreach.

FOUR HEAVEN BOUND: Mike Shifflett, Greg Ketchum, Paul Stettler, Darrel Boyd.

I AM BECOMING. . .

Dreams DO have a way of being woven into the fabric of reality. This occurs when men entertain dreams and when God chooses to make them happen.

Have you had the feeling that you were sitting on the sideline watching your own life? I, Manhattan Christian College, am having that experience. I am seeing my aspirations lived out in lives, both youthful and mature (or maturing). I am watching the Lord minister His salvation and His help through me.

And in the process of being used, I believe the vessel and the vessels slowly take on the character of the Master.

Through the years, and through the year, I know I have become many things. Perhaps it is better to say that I am BECOMING.

I am a person becoming certain things because the persons who comprise me are "becoming." They are changing, so I am changing. They are growing, and so I am growing.

I am becoming sophomores and seniors, spectators and participants, leaders and followers, soul winners and souls won, donors and sustainers in prayer. Servants for love's ake.

And so I have become, and am becoming, a corporate person in Christ. I am, and I am becoming a college for His use. I am, and I am becoming a community for His concerns, a family of His children, a unit of His body, though many members.

I am overwhelmed with nostalgia as I reflect on what has happened on my campus, and on what is happening; and I can hardly contain my eagerness to see what God will do here in days- -years- -to come. . .until He comes.

Yes, I am becoming- -pray God- -like Him. I yearn to hear Him say, "Well done. . .enter in."

Then I shall have become.
